

BOYS WHO WIN THE PULITZER SCHOLARSHIPS

List of the Successful Candidates for 1908-09 Is Given Out.

NEW CLASS ANNOUNCED

Entitles Holders to Free Tuition in Columbia With-out a Stipend.

The Pulitzer Free Scholarships for 1908-9, entitling each of the holders to a stipend of $250 a year for four years and to free tuition in Columbia University for a like period, have been awarded to the following candidates:

Maurice Levine, No. 865 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn; Boys' High School.
Harry Leon Lobenz, No. 141 Monroe street, Passaic, N. J.; Morris High School.

George A. Shaw, No. 94 Marcy avenue, Brooklyn; Boys' High School.
Thomas Pugh Williams, No. 535 West One Hundred and Fifty-first street; Stuyvesant High School.

Asa Le Roy Rogers, No. 383 Linden avenue, Brooklyn; Erasmus Hall High School.

Michael Conovitz, No. 104 Cook street, Brooklyn; Eastern District High School.

Gabriel Rubino, No. 34 Carmine street, New York; De Witt Clinton High School.

Samuel J. Levinson, No. 372 Wallabout street, Brooklyn; Boys' High School.

Clay Ray Murray, No. 725 Home street, Bronx; Morris High School.

Their Chosen Colleges.

Mr. Williams and Mr. Conovitz have elected to enter Harvard University.

Mr. Rogers has entered Cornell University and Mr. Murray the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The others are in Columbia University. In addition to the regular number of forty students for whom Mr. Pulitzer has provided free tuition at Columbia University and to each of whom a stipend of $250 a year is paid, the Pulitzer Scholarship Committee has instituted a new class of non-stipendary scholarships in order to utilize the vacancies existing in Columbia University by reason of some of the successful competitors electing to receive their education at other universities. These new scholarships entitle the holder to free tuition in Columbia University for four years, but to no stipend. Scholarships in this class have been awarded to the following:

Winners of Scholarships.

Ernest Bosch, No. 901 Grant avenue, Bronx; Morris High School.
N. Edwin Hendrickson, No. 536 Dean street, Brooklyn; De Witt Clinton High School.

Frederick William Scholz, No. 414 Fourth avenue, New York; Stuyvesant High School.

James H. Henle, No. 372 West One Hundred and Fifty-first street; De Witt Clinton High School.

Harold Pindar Zoller, No. 222 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street; Morris High School.

Harold A. Calahan, No. 215 Cumberland street, Brooklyn; Boys' High School.

In all, fifty-one young men are now enjoying the benefits of the Pulitzer Scholarships. Forty are in Columbia University, three in the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, three in Cornell University, two in Harvard and one each in Cornell Medical College, Rutgers College and Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

Seven Columbia Graduates.

Seven holders of Pulitzer Scholarships graduated from Columbia University with honors last June and one from Cornell Medical College. Many of the holders of Pulitzer Scholarships established remarkable records during the last collegiate year, the holder of a Pulitzer Scholarship in Dickinson College, being F. Salzano, John Dotha Jones and E. Peter Ceruss. The latter, in addition to being a singularly apt scholar, achieved fame as a basketball player and the stroke of the Columbia crew.

Harry E. Jackson, the holder of a Pulitzer Scholarship in Dickinson College, is the editor of the Microcosm, the official college publication.
